

Thanksgiving in Tuscany... WITH SENTIERI TOURS

November 22-29, 2008

Come restore your senses at Podere Palazzo, a unique villa at the border of Tuscany, Umbria and Lazio, midway between Rome and Florence and convenient to many of the most charming towns and villages of central Italy. Situated atop a hill with expansive views, this vacation home is surrounded by the unspoiled beauty of the rural Tuscan landscape with its magnificent oak woods, beautiful mountains, peaceful pastures, classic olive orchards and vineyards, and delightful medieval towns.

Podere Palazzo has been beautifully restored by an Italian architect working with skilled local craftsmen. It combines the beauty of a traditional stone farm house with the best of Italian modern interior design to create a unique blend of the old and the new. This spacious and airy villa, measuring 4,000 square feet (370 square meters), has five bedrooms, four and a half baths, splendid grounds including a pond, an infinity pool, and a portico for outdoor dining. It can serve as a base to explore all the beauty and history that central Italy has to offer and much more. Just down the road from the house is one of the largest and most popular spas in Italy where there are delightful thermal pools and an assortment of spa services.

Podere Palazzo is located in the heart of Etruria and central Italy at the border of Tuscany, Umbria, and Lazio. Within minutes you can be marveling at the cultural richness of three of the most interesting regions of Italy which offer the delights of both ancient and contemporary Italian life.

Prehistoric civilizations, the Etruscans, the Romans, and the feudal wars of early and late renaissance shaped the towns, the cities, and the endlessly enchanting landscapes. Today this complex history can be enjoyed and savored in all its beauty and charm. Beautiful vistas, unique archeological sites, little hamlets perched on top of hills, verdant parks and peaceful lakes, the artistic patrimony of each church and museum, the delightful food and wines, the festivals and palios, and the charming people of the area will make your stay most enjoyable and rewarding.
